

1. Paul wrote this to the believers in Rome: "Because we know God, we have peace and have hope, which does not disappoint."

2. "That's not all! Even when we struggle, we can have hope and praise God. We know learning to deal with struggles can help us develop endurance. Endurance is our ability to keep doing hard things."

4. "Building character produces hope. Hope is the belief new things are possible. This is exciting and wonderful because it's evidence of God's love in our hearts and the Holy Spirit being with us."

3. "When we develop endurance, we build character. Your character is how people know who you are by what you do, how you treat people, and what you believe. We build character through our experiences."
